HERB Post Office Box 970 Santa Rosa, California 95402 24 25 By: HANS W. HERB, Esq.

15 Mr. Provencher. 16 And the person most -- one of the elements under 17 the Clean Water Act and RCRA --18 MR. NEARY: Why don't you just have a seat here 19 and --20 MR. BIGGS: Everybody wants to speak today. 21 MR. NEARY: Okay. Well, there's -- let's just 22 have a seat and we'll figure out what we're going to do 23 here. 24 So let's go on the record. It's about 11:10 -are you going to have a seat?

             And this is your deposition, but would I suggest we identify the identities of the persons most knowledgable.

                                                                        and then we keep three people in here at a time.
 4
            MR. HERB: Who is the first deponent, then?
                                                                    4
                                                                                And there are certain people that I have in mind 5
             MR. BIGGS: The first deponent would be who will speak to economic integrity, cultural, recreation, Dr. Edmunds, who is sitting on your left.
                                                                        and that sort of thing. And we could keep three people in

            MR. HERB: I've never taken multiple depositions 8 of a person at one time. I'm not sure how, logistically, 8
                                                                                But I would like the rest of the people to be in 9

                                                                        here. I think things could be kept very orderly.
    you would do that.
10
             MR. BIGGS: Perhaps I could throw out an idea. I 10
                                                                                MR. NEARY: Let's have you designate who the imagine you're looking for elements of standing with regard person most knowledgable is, first.

                                                                   12
                                                                                MR. BIGGS: Well, there's about 20 people -- 13 different things.
                                                                   13
                                                                        there's probably 20 people who are most knowledgable.
14
             One item that comes up is culture, and there are 14
                                                                        There's no one thing.
                                                                   15
                                                                                Like, for example, one person would talk about the 15 individuals here who will speak to cultural elements.
16
    There are quite a few people that have unique stories going 16 native plant garden -- topics they're most knowledgable on and --

                                                                                 MR. BIGGS: Well, we need to bring them in here.
             Mr. Edmunds, he will speak to elements of the 23 Association. You may have questions about who is in it and 23
                                                                                 MR. NEARY: This is something that you should 24

    how it works. I think he brought you some documents.
                                                                        designate for the record before we get started.
25
             And then the entire Pinoleville Pomo Nation is the 25
                                                                                 MR. BIGGS: Well, I think, as he asks questions, what I will do is I will say, "Who wants to speak about plaintiff as well as the Environmental Association, and each party, in essence, is a plaintiff and wants to this?" or "Who wants to speak about that?"

    participate in the deposition. Just as your clients are MR. NEARY: No. I mean, you know that the 4
    all here, well, our clients are all here, and they all want designation is -- the topics that are going to be deposed 5
    to sit. And maybe we could -- there's another place we 5 on are disclosed in the Deposition Notice. So I think, 6
    could go where there would be more room, but -- or have 6 first, we need to have you designate who the person most
     them -- they could just -- you know, people can stand and knowledgable is.

     sit on the floor. But I would like them all to come in 8
                                                                                 MR. BIGGS: Well, I need to speak with them.
                                                                                 MR. NEARY: Well, okay. Usually you do that 9 here, and they all want to, and they're all asserting that 9

                                                                   10 before the deposition commences.
11
             MR. NEARY: Well, we might have to call the judge.
                                                                   11
                                                                                 MR. BIGGS: Okay. Well, we have -- 12
     Because we don't have room for 30 people here, and this is 12
                                                                                 MR. NEARY: Do you need some more time to -- 13
     a deposition of the person most knowledgable. If you want 13

A-I-I-c-i-a. 2 MR. HERB: Anyone else? 2 3 3 DAVID EDMUNDS: We have associates that 4 4 participate in an informal basis. David Ponton, the 5 5 Housing Director; Erika Williams, who works in the Tribal 6 6 Historic Preservation office; Angela James, who also works 7 7 with the Tribal Historic Preservation office. 8 8 MR. And we have -- okay. 11 12 12 MR. HERB: Is there more? 13 DAVID EDMUNDS: We're in the process of recruiting 13 14 14 youth members, and I'm not sure if it's appropriate to name 15 them at this point, but Jason Steele has participated in 15 16 16 one of our meetings. 17 17 MR. HERB: See, normally what happens is when the 18 18 Notice goes out, normally one person is produced and 19 19 identifies who the other people are so that then I can 20 notice them. But before I know who to notice, I have to 20 21 21 get one person. 22 MR. BIGGS: I understand. That's fine. I think 22 23 23 we're getting off to a good start right now. We're on that. 24 track. 24 25 25 MR. HERB: See, it's kind of like in the Exxon 25 1 Valdez spill, if you think about it. If they just said, right of a party in the case to be here. 1 2 2

"Hey, give us the most knowledgable person and every 3 shareholder or officer or director or employee of Exxon 4 Mobil came, there would be over a hundred thousand people that would be at the deposition, and you can imagine how difficult it would be to take a hundred thousand people's deposition to find out what someone knew.

So it's probably unlikely that what the court rules envisioned is that everybody that had any interest would be involved. What they ask for is you're under a duty to provide me with the most knowledgable person, or persons if there's two different things --

MR. BIGGS: Mr. Herb, not to be disrespectful and interrupt you, but we understand that and we do not foresee that you will want to take all of their depositions. A lot of them just wanted to come because this is part -- they're real parties, just like we have people here on the other side. There are some individuals you'll probably want to depose this morning.

I'm in full agreement with everything you're saying, and I did have a telephone conversation with you, and I explained to you that there was no person who was most knowledgable. We had that conversation Friday afternoon a week ago. And it was quite a lengthy conversation, and I did explain to you and give you notice that there are different cultural aspects that are uniquely Native American that come into play here.

So as to not bombard counsel with a whole bunch of people, so to speak, what I propose is we have a pool, a reservoir of people who can -- you can depose who are available today so you don't have to renotice them.

For example, Dr. Edmunds just gave you a list of individuals, and these individuals are in that pool. And if you would like to call them, they're here.

At this point, I am only asking that they be accommodated. They are all standing out in the parking lot and if something could be done to make them accommodated. It doesn't have to be anything fancy. Like maybe they could all be sitting down in the hallway outside of this room. That's all we're asking.

MR. HERB: Well, again, in my general experience -- first of all, this is not my office, this is private property, it doesn't belong to me. I asked Mr. Neary for permission to conduct a deposition here. He gave me permission to conduct a deposition here. He did not give me permission to invite 30 people to his office.

MR. BIGGS: I respect that and we all respect

MR. HERB: And I don't think he was particularly happy, even, that my client was here, but he respects the

I don't have a problem, per se, with the fact that 3 people want to participate. I just think the logistics of this are such that it's not reasonable. And I think if we picked up the phone and called the judge and said, "Judge, there's 30 people here who want to participate in a 7 conference room that can barely fit 10 people" --

MR. BIGGS: Excuse me. That's mischaracterizing what we're asking for. We never asked for 30 people to come into this conference room. We're just asking them to come in outside from the sun that's beating down on them, standing out on the street.

We're suggesting that they sit on their rear ends in the hallway outside the door. There's a long hallway, I observed, it's about 40 feet long. I didn't see any other commercial activity going on here, and I don't see how that would inconvenience anybody.

In fact, if they were all sitting out there and you were beginning your line of questions with Dr. Edmunds, you'd be gathering information and then, to make this expeditious, I could then walk outside, say, if you wanted to depose Angela James, for instance. Then I would walk 20 feet to the door and I would say, "Angela, could you come in here, please" and then she'd be in here. And then, 25 in a matter of minutes, she'd be sworn in and then you'd be running your line of questions with Angela, then we'd be done and I'd say, "Okay, you're done. You can go home now."

And say you pulled another individual that

Dr. Edmunds has given you. Again, I would walk to the door and I'd have them come in here. Actually, if we were doing that right now -- if we'd been doing that for the last 10 minutes, you probably already would be done with Dr. Edmunds and speaking with somebody else and then maybe coming back around and speaking to him again.

MR. HERB: Well, that's -- when I take a deposition, I'm going to find out something about the deponent. So probably every deponent is going to spend an hour or more with me telling me about their background, their experience, any prior lawsuits, any prior involvement in anything.

And if there's just 10 people that I have to go through where they lived, where they went to school, how many times they've been involved with the courts, how many times they've testified, how many -- whatever. I don't know. Maybe none of these people have ever had any involvement and never moved or whatever, but I would anticipate just one hour per person is going to take more than one day just to do the background on all of the people.

from here that are also members of the Pinoleville Pomo Nation that couldn't be here today. These individuals are people in the neighborhood, so to speak, that wanted to come on down and see what's going on and offer their input.
 And, again, I'm saying we can have them sitting on their rear ends in the hallway, we don't even have to give them chairs. We're not even asking for chairs, Mr. Herb.

Okay? We don't even want to use your bathroom -Mr. Neary's bathrooms here if that's a problem. They're all standing outside. Your clients are all sitting here inside with us.

MR. NEARY: Well, I am a party in this case, and there's two different issues here. One is accommodation of people who want to observe the deposition. That's one thing. But I'm entitled to know who is being designated as the person most knowledgable.

MR. BIGGS: Well, I can accommodate you. What I'll do is I'll walk outside with a notepad and a pen, and I'll write down the names of the individuals for you so you'll know.

MR. NEARY: I need to know who is designated as the person most knowledgable for the specific allegations that this deposition was noticed for.

24 MR. BIGGS: Well --

MR. NEARY: And the reason why I need to know that

And since I don't know what they're going to testify about, since I don't know who -- I mean, it's like, again, going back to the Exxon example and saying, "There's a hundred thousand people. Just pick one. And then if that one doesn't know the answer, I'll bring in another one."

MR. BIGGS: But that was Exxon and the facts are distinguishable. There, there was a tanker spill, the Valdez spill. And, here, we have a very unique circumstance. We have land that Pomo Indians have lived on for 10,000 years, we have cultural issues here that are unique. There are some things that individuals do that other individuals don't do. There are some things individuals know about that other individuals know about. There are a lot of people in the Association.

Also, the Pinoleville Pomo Nation is plaintiff. Every single individual, therefore, could be considered a plaintiff, they have an interest in it. And, you know, they have a right to be at this deposition.

MR. HERB: Well --

MR. BIGGS: And you knew that you were suing Pinoleville Pomo Nation on your counterclaim. You know that the Pinoleville Pomo Nation sued your client. This is a large group of people.

There are people who, you know, live very far away

1 is, after Mr. Herb has completed with his questioning, I'm2 entitled to ask questions. Now --

MR. BIGGS: You are.

MR. NEARY: -- so I need to know who is being designated for a specific point so that I can -- because, if people are dismissed out of here and it turns out later, well, that was the person who was most knowledge about, you know, some small little aspect of this case, they're gone.
So --

MR. BIGGS: They're ready to stay here all day and they're ready to come back every day. You know, everything you've just said, nothing we have a problem with. Okay?

We want to accommodate you.

MR. NEARY: Would you designate them, then.
 MR. BIGGS: There is more than one person most knowledgable.

MR. NEARY: Okay. I accept --

18 MR. BIGGS: Mr. Edmunds -- Dr. Edmunds can speak 19 to the logistics, but he cannot speak to the sweats. He 20 can't speak to the native plant gardens. He can't speak to 21 the diminution of the willows that have been used for 22 basket weaving for 10,000 years.
23 MR. NEARY: I don't care that he can't do that. I

MR. NEARY: I don't care that he can't do that. I just want to know who it is that's going to speak on the allegations of this Complaint, the person most Deposition Notice isn't asking for the person most knowledgable as to cultural issues. It's asking for the person most knowledgable as to these specific allegations, and that's really what I'm entitled to know before this deposition commences.

MR. BIGGS: Well, I think you are, too, okay? But I don't think that Dr. Edmunds can speak to everything that's important. Okay?

MR. NEARY: I understand that.

MR. BIGGS: And I'm asking you to come up with some kind of plan to where the people who have come here today can be accommodated with the most sparse of accommodations, and we pick a few people -- I would propose that Dr. Edmunds --

MR. NEARY: Now you're going off on a different topic here.

MR. BIGGS: No, I'm not. Just hear me out. Dr. Edmunds is sitting right here. He can be the first deponent and that is if your order of questioning would begin with the structure of the Association. We figured and we brought documents to the effect that you would want to know about the meetings, minutes of the 25 meetings, who has gone to the meetings, and that sort of them here so I can go into the pool of people and then 4 bring in that person. I don't know precisely where you're going to go. But in bringing these people, we sought to 6 accommodate any questions you may ask. 7

MR. NEARY: Well, I'll point out that it's your Complaint, and the Deposition Notice asked for the person most knowledgable as to three paragraphs in a rather lengthy Complaint, a hundred-paragraph Complaint.

MR. BIGGS: Yes, a very lengthy Complaint. And if you look into the causes of action for public nuisance, you see reference to the ecosystem, endangered species. Theoretically, every single individual from that site to Jenner is a potential plaintiff here.

Actually, speaking of Exxon Valdez, you should be grateful that this hasn't gotten out in the press yet and people aren't jumping into this lawsuit.

19 MR. NEARY: Well, I don't dispute that, but --20 MR. BIGGS: We brought an action for a public 21 nuisance --

MR. NEARY: But the question is who are you designating. It's not -- you don't bring every member of the public.

MR. BIGGS: We haven't done that. We brought the HERB: I'm just trying to find someone -- I'm something you should have done before. 3 If you want to take some time and confer with your 3 assuming -- you're here with the chairperson of the tribe. I would assume that if I went to some other tribal member 4 4 clients, that's fine. 5 MR. BIGGS: No. Excuse me. 5 and they told me something and it wasn't consistent with 6 6 what she believed, as I sit here today. I believe that she Chairperson Williams? 7 7 would tell me, "I don't care what they told you. I'm the LEONA WILLIAMS: Yes. 8 8 chairperson and my decision is the only one that counts." 9 9 So all I'm asking you is whose decision counts --10 MR. BIGGS: I would object to that as a 10 11 11 conclusion, and I don't know what to call that statement 12 12 you just made. It is, with all due respect, in complete So that's the --13 13 ignorance of how a tribal government operates. A tribal 14 14 government has a legislative branch, it has an executive 15 15 let's go off record for a minute. branch, it could have a judicial branch, just like the 16 State of California. This is a Federally-recognized 16 17 government that has the same standing as the State of 17 18 18 California under law here, and it's not a dictatorship. 19 19 MR. HERB: I didn't say it was. I'm just trying 20 to find out --20 21 21 MR. BIGGS: You did say it. 22 22 MR. HERB: No. I --23 23 MR. BIGGS: Yes, you did. Now I want to back up 24 24 testimony and she's not sworn. now. 25 25 There are a couple of things that concern me here. 1 And I think that we've made a lot of progress in getting 1 this deposition going. A major concern of mine was the witnesses who came here, the deponents who came here today, be accommodated; and, just like your clients, be allowed to come in off the street, inside this building but outside the room.

Second, this is a complex issue. I do not think, with all due respect, that either defense counsel has ever been involved in any kind of litigation with a governmental entity that is a plaintiff while, at the same time, an environmental association as a plaintiff.

Furthermore, I don't think that, with all due respect, either counsel has that much knowledge about Federal Indian law or about Indian culture. There are some unique circumstances here.

On the other hand, the plaintiffs respect and acknowledge the concerns of Mr. Neary, and give great credibility and deference to what he has to say and want to accommodate Mr. Neary's criteria.

So I think that a way to identify some of the individuals would be to, very simply, for me to ask some questions, if I may. I don't have a problem with that. In fact, I'm going to do that.

MR. NEARY: Just a minute. I have a problem. If you want to confer with your clients -- we're paying by the

MR. BIGGS: Who would be the person most knowledgable as to native plants that are used in basketry?
        MR. NEARY: I'd just point out that she's the chairperson of the Nation, not of the deponent here, which is the Pinoleville Pomo Nation Environmental Association.
        MR. BIGGS: Well, she's not sworn in. Okay? So MR. NEARY: No, I think everything we say here in MR. BIGGS: You want it on the record.
        You may answer the question.
        LEONA WILLIAMS: The most knowledgable?
         MR. NEARY: Wait a minute. First, would you swear her, please. She's being designated as the person -- MR. BIGGS: No, she's not. She's going to give MR. NEARY: This is not your deposition, Michael.
         MR. BIGGS: But I just asked you, I said, "Do we want to go off the record?" You said, "No."

3 So now I'm asking her a question. If she's going 4 to speak on the record, I insist that she be sworn. If you 5 don't want her sworn, then we need to go off the record.

MR. HERB: I'm just wondering if we should get the judge involved because it's noon, the judge is going to be leaving, and I really want to get my deposition done.

MR. BIGGS: Go ahead. Get the judge on.

MR. HERB: Can we see if we can.

MR. NEARY: We have a phone right here.

12 We're going to stay on the record here --13 MR. BIGGS: Wait a minute. May the record -- no,

14 we need to go off the record for a minute because I'm going 15 to go out and have a meeting with Chairperson Williams. MR. HERB: Well, do you want me to wait on that call until after you --MR. BIGGS: Well, just wait a minute. Yeah.

19 So we need to go off record.

THE REPORTER: I have to have everybody agree.

21 MR. NEARY: So if you want to meet and confer with 22 your clients, take them all out --

23 MR. BIGGS: I'm not going to leave the room while 24

we're on the record.

MR. NEARY: Okay. Well, then take everybody with you or we're staying on the record. 2 LEONA WILLIAMS: You can stay here and --2 3 MR. BIGGS: Okay. She just needs to go out and 3 4 speak with the people. 4 5 MR. I don't idea for you to begin your deposition with Dr. Edmunds, because you can ask him questions and you can learn about those answers that you need; and then, if you need to call those people, they're here for your convenience. That's why he's first. MR. HERB: The only problem is that it's -- one, it's not my burden; and, two, I don't really know, I don't know who has authority. I've already obviously made a mistake. I'm not trying to offend anyone. I'm just trying to find out --MR. BIGGS: There is no authority in any one person in the Environmental Association. It's a group of people. And when you ask Dr. Edmunds for the charter on this, you'll be able to read and see how it has been structured. I believe this thing was started about two years ago, and there have been many, many, many meetings, agendas, programs.

MR. BIGGS: That's why I think it would be a great

It's quite a sophisticated association, actually.

It's not a piece of paper that is a ruse. And if anybody thought that, I think they're going to be in for a big surprise. And can you image the specter today if you started learning more things, and then you would be noticing people for further depositions down the road.

Here now, for defense counsel's convenience, have authority to grant people the right to come in or stay out of this building. It's not my property.

So I need to get some direction from the judge in terms of what she believes is the appropriate response.

MR. BIGGS: My position with the judge is that we're ready to begin the deposition of Dr. Edmunds, who will testify as to the structure and organization of the Environmental Association and also give you documents pertaining to that, and that all we're asking is that the definition of "person most knowledgable" here in this unique situation is kind of broad and we don't want it limited to Dr. Edmunds because he cannot testify as to things that other people could testify to, and I don't want those issues closed out. And that's all.

And that, moreover, we thought we were in agreement that these people could come in out of the sun outside and sit in the hallway. There's nobody out there. And it's our position that that is the only block into getting this deposition started.

MR. HERB: Well, and I think, with regard to Mr. Neary's point, I just need -- it doesn't have to be -I need to know that I'm speaking to the right person. I don't want to waste anybody's time, and so I need to know that I'm speaking to someone that has authority.

anybody that I anticipated might be useful for what you need to do is here for your convenience now. It's just they're outside in the sun on the street in a dirt parking lot.

5 Dr. Edmunds is sitting next to you and he's ready 6 to begin. He's well prepared, he has all of his documents, 7 and I'm perfectly willing to designate him as person most 8 knowledgable, with the reservation that there are some 9 other issues that are material to association standing that 10 he is not most knowledgable about. But I have brought 11 those individuals that would testify to those things here 12 today.

MR. NEARY: And that's your right to do that. The question is: Who are they and what are they most knowledgable on? It's a very simple question.
MR. BIGGS: Well, we could go through that.

MR. BIGGS: Well, we could go through that.
MR. NEARY: I don't want to ask Dr. Edmunds a question that somebody else is more -- most knowledgable about.

MR. BIGGS: I can verbally, with the assistance of Chairperson Williams, Dr. Edmunds and Mr. Provencher, do that for defense counsel here as we sit. I just need to be in a position to where defense counsel -- there's not an objection to me eliciting those answers from them.

MR. NEARY: Okay. So why don't you go ahead and

                                                                         Association. So I would say he would be your next person 13 people -- to have people come and I spoke with people on 14
     Saturday as well who would have personal knowledge as to 14 who could be considered most knowledgable.
     all of these things.
                                                                                 Now, when I go back outside, there should be two

16
             MR. NEARY: So I suggest one of two things here.
                                                                    16 or three other people on the list who can speak to some of 17 the unique cultural activities. Some people are aware that 17
     One is you -- we adjourn this deposition, you step out, and you determine who you're going to designate.
                                                                    18 Native Americans have a very close connection with the leaves the room.

23
             MR. BIGGS: Yes. That's a good way to do it. But 23
                                                                                  But, nonetheless, we'll have this adapted to 24 we need to go off the record, give us 15 minutes, and then Counsel's criteria for streamlining and organizing and 25 we'll prepare a list. And then, once having done that, if 25 putting some names down.

                                                                                                                               51
                                                                                 I have nothing further to say. I am going to go

 3
             MR. NEARY: I don't have --

 4
             MR. BIGGS: -- then we could started.
                                                                     4 indicated to some people that they could go -- okay? -- but 5
             MR. NEARY: They can sit anywhere they want to.
                                                                     5
                                                                         I do want to bring a smaller group of people into the 6
             MR. BIGGS: All right.
                                                                     6 hallway. They have a vested interest in this, this is very 7
             MR. NEARY: It's just they can't fit in a room 7 important to them. And if they're allowed to come up here, 8
     that can't accommodate them.
                                                                     8
                                                                         I don't think I need to tell them to be very polite and 9
             MR. BIGGS: I certainly agree, and I think 9 respectful. I think they're that way.
10
     everybody in this room feels that way.
                                                                    10
                                                                                  But I will take responsibility, if Mr. Neary would 11
             I'm eager to get started, and I think that is a 11
                                                                         be gracious enough to allow that, to make sure that things 12 very fair meeting of the minds here. So if we may go off 12 are in a fashion that, you know, would be very pleasant.
13
     the record, I'll get busy and get that done as quickly as 13
                                                                                  And, again, I think that you're going to find that 14 possible.
                                                                    14
                                                                         Dr. Edmunds is going to be able to give you a lot of 15
             MR. NEARY: All right. Let's go off the record.
                                                                    15 information, and he will give you documents, as you 16
             MR. BIGGS: Thank you, Counsel.
                                                                    16 request.

                                                                    17
             (Break taken at 12:06 p.m. until 12:21 p.m.)
                                                                                  Now, I do believe in the Notice, it was combined 18
             MR. BIGGS: Gentlemen, Counsel, I think we're 18 with a request for documents, which require a longer period 19 making progress, off to a slow start. But what I have 19 of time, and I think it is defective in that sense. But 20 going on outside is we're making a short list, a topical 20 we're waiving that. We brought the documents we have.

     short list. We're designating people who are members of 21
                                                                         It's not an issue.
22
     the Association and to what topics they would have personal 22
                                                                                 I didn't want to make an issue that doesn't need 23 knowledge to.
                                                                    23 to be an issue. I'm not interested in making technical, 24
             And, within a few minutes, that list should be 24 you know, roadblocks to getting things done. So he does 25 done and I will submit it to counsel. And then I will have 25 have a whole stack of documents to hand over.
